Patelco Credit Union Membership

San Francisco-based Patelco Credit Union is a California-chartered financial institution serving communications employees and their families since 1936.

Patelco was founded June 10, 1936 by five PBX installers. The credit union's original name was "SF Patelco Credit Union". One of the founders, George B. Lake, Jr., stated that initial assets were $500. Now, with over 170,000 members and assets of over $1.7 billion, Patelco is ranked 13th in the nation and 4th in California in total assets. Patelco's philosophy is based on the credit union standard of "people helping people".

Why Credit Unions?

"People Helping People"

A credit union is a not-for-profit financial cooperative. This means that unlike banks, credit unions are not out to maximize corporate shareholder profits but rather to re-invest surplus earnings into lower loan rates, higher savings rates, and a host of other products and services for members.

Member-owned means member-run

A credit union is truly, "democracy in action." Every member is an owner and therefore every member gets a say when it comes to electing the board of directors and deciding what's best for the future. It also means that members are the ones who share in the profits.

Why Patelco?

In addition to the great reasons above...

Patelco Credit Union didn't get to be one of the nation's top credit unions by making poor financial decisions. We avoided all sub-prime mortgage lending, which means we still have plenty to lend at great rates. And we don't take chances with our members' money so your savings and future are safe with us.

We're always expanding

Not a year goes by at Patelco that new products, services, or locations aren't added to our already exceptional list. New certificates, new home loan offers, new branches, new ATMs, and so on; because with 250,000+ members and counting, we can't afford to fall behind.

Never a better time

The sooner you get started with a credit union that cares about your financial future, the sooner you'll achieve your goals. Become a Commitment Household Member and you'll receive even more exciting benefits.
